"Obstacle Course Racing (OCR) is a sport that challenges participants with a series of physical obstacles, testing their endurance, strength, agility, and coordination. The course typically includes a mix of climbing, jumping, and balancing tasks designed to simulate real-world challenges. OCR is popular for its ability to provide a full-body workout while also being a thrilling competition that pushes athletes to their limits. The ""INFINITY LOOP"" is a versatile OCR course measuring 34.5m x 12m, with obstacles such as Double Curved Monkey Bars, High Jumps, and a Curved Balancing Beam. This course is ideal for developing overall fitness, combining endurance, strength, and flexibility."
